JANUARY 2024

EDITO

The CBH Graduate School wishes you a very successful year for 2024!

We are pleased to announce a new version of our website and newsletter for 2024.

The newsletter will include testimonials, events highlights, and important dates to remember. Our aim is to provide content that is relevant and engaging you throughout the year.

This new academic year, we welcomed new CBH Graduate School scholarship students (19 masters students and 9 PhD students).

You can read one of their testimonials below. We are very proud of the first 9 PhD students funded by the CBH Graduate School program who successfully defended their thesis.

Thank you for your involvement in your programs and for being part of the CBH Graduate School community.

CBH Graduate School team.

Best wishes for 2024

EVENTS HIGHLIGHTS

FORUM BIOTECHNO AURA 2023

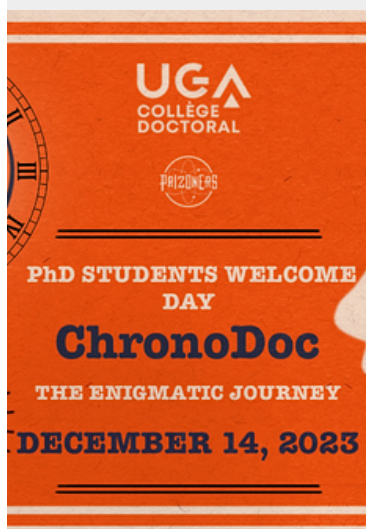

In november, CBH Graduate School supported and participated to the Forum Biotechno Aura 2023 organized by Glob'Alps association at Grenoble.

It was a perfect occasion to meet you, whereas GRAL hosted a round table on the subject of "Post PhD journey".

If you too would like to organize an event... the CBH Graduate School can provide financial support to help you. See the dedicated page for student projects

PHD STUDENT WELCOME DAY

CBH Graduate School was present at the PhD Student Welcome Day, organized by the Doctoral College, to meet our doctoral students.

The programme for this special event was :

- An opportunity to discover all the actions and services offered by the Doctoral College, the Doctoral Schools, the University and its partners.
- Participation in an enigma game on the campus
- The chance to meet up and forge links

CBH GRADUATE SCHOOL FESTIVE DINNER

To celebrate the end of the year, we invited all our master's scholarship holders to a festive dinner.

We were so happy 😊 to get together and dine at Café de la Table Ronde, the second-oldest café in France, opened in Grenoble in 1739.

The perfect way to celebrate the end of the year!

Testimonial - January

"I am a curious person who likes to understand life around us, so I decided early on to study chemistry and joined CPE Lyon, a graduate school of chemistry and process engineering, where I specialised in organic chemistry. During my studies, I combined my interest in chemistry of life and travelling by taking a gap year to work at Origenis, a drug discovery company, in Munich, Germany.

I then pursue my studies with an international exchange at the University College of London, where I worked on a new type of conjugation for the antibody-drug conjugate technology under the supervision of Professor J.R. Baker.

I am motivated by the development of new therapeutic and diagnostic options and the impact they can have on human health. My project, which combines chemistry, biology and technology for health, was a perfect fit for the CBH Graduate School. After completing my PhD, I would like to work in health research".
